

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Sustainable Residential Interiors* now available in Italian!

(Denver, CO) June, 2009 – Associates III's award winning resource guide for responsible residential interior design, Sustainable Residential Interiors, has now been translated into Italian. Ma c'è da crederci! We couldn't at first.

"It's an amazing feeling to know your words are reaching so far! All three of us (authors) have strong European roots and ties and know that "green design" has long been embraced in countries like Italy. Our love for the sustaining materials and methods used there for centuries has inspired and informed us on our own paths of education and the application of life affirming designs that honor indigenous peoples and places."

So if you're an avid reader of Italian and would like to learn more about sustainability for residential interior applications, order your copy today:
